

De Kas Piet Boon and Bolidtop® FiftyFifty

De Kas. As the name implies, Restaurant De Kas (the greenhouse) has been built like an 8 metre high glasshouse. During the day, this offers a spectacular view and at night the restaurant and its grounds are attractively lit. De Kas is not just any restaurant. The restaurant has its own nursery which produces herbs in the summer and different types of lettuce in wintertime.

The strength of the restaurant's interior is that it provides an island of calm for the guests who sit down for a meal. The dining area of De Kas has been designed by architect Piet Boon. His love for natural, honest materials and a minimal, bold style is a perfect match with the concept of De Kas. Conditions to his designs are timelessness, durability and a focus on leisure and comfort.

The architect has selected the Bolidtop® FiftyFifty flooring line for De Kas, because it fully fits with his concept. Two contrasting colours create a lively and spacial effect. In addition, the functional qualities of this flooring line suit a restaurant like De Kas. The floor is easy to maintain and is resistant to heavy foot traffic.

Everyone involved in this restaurant is convinced that food tastes best if it has been prepared with home-grown superfresh ingredients. This conviction, in addition to the concept and the interior is what makes a diner at De Kas really exceptional!
