

Intratuin Rosmalen goes for fire and water

Sinterklaas, who does not know him? An intrinsically Dutch Sinterklaas song that practically all 'cheese heads' are familiar with. If its writers would want to revive the song, they certainly would not need to search for new lyrics very long. 'Intratuin, who does not know it?' would very likely strike a musical chord with the Dutch population. As much as 97% of the Dutch know Intratuin! The creative and professional chain of garden centres with 54 outlets that add character to their gardens and living rooms through countless products for indoors and outdoors. Collectively, the Intratuin outlets cover an area of 93 soccer pitches and a total of 12.5 million satisfied customers walk out of their doors every year!

The Intratuin outlet in Rosmalen also has thousands upon thousands of feet walking its floor. That is why they selected a Bolidtop[®] 200 floor finish in 2002, which has more than met their expectations. After more than five years, it was still in perfect condition, but in Rosmalen they felt it was high time to restyle. They immediately set to work, choosing the four elements earth, water, fire and air as a theme for the project. Many of their new products are based on this theme and the colour of the new floor was clearly not plucked out of the air, but was a natural choice: terra. As for the installation of the floor, Intratuin put its full trust in Bolidt again, especially in view of the special requirements involved. The main challenge is that the concrete subfloor is sloping, so that the large amounts water ending up on it due to watering and cleaning can drain away. Installing a floor on such a substrate is not an easy job. After a thorough evaluation, a new Bolidtop[®] 200 turned out to be the best solution. Both the owner and the manager are perfectly pleased and the Intratuin outlet in Rosmalen is all ready for business again. Christmas, New Year's Eve, Easter, spring, Mother's Day and summer ... all the feet these will bring to the floor are very welcome and no cause for concern, because the Bolidtop[®] 200 is easy to clean and does not budge!
